

Mapping Your Future

www.mappingyourfuture.org

On this site, you can find out how to choose a career and how to reach your career goals. You can also pick up useful tips on job hunting, résumé writing, and job interviewing techniques. This site also provides a ten-step plan for determining and achieving your career goals.

University of Waterloo Career Development eManual

<https://emanual.uwaterloo.ca>

This site gives you a thorough online career-interest survey and strategies you can use to get the job that's right for you.

LiveCareer

www.livecareer.com

LiveCareer is a San Francisco-based company founded by Sigma Assessment Systems, Inc., and a group of leading career professionals and investors. LiveCareer has developed innovative practical assessment solutions that have helped millions of people make important career decisions.

Monster

www.monster.com

This site includes information about thousands of job and career fairs, advice on résumés, and much more.

LinkedIn

<https://www.linkedin.com/>

Create a profile and upload your résumé when you join the "world's largest professional network" to connect with potential employers or people that can give you more information about their fields. This resource is probably better for you once you have decided what you want to do, but it also works as a worldwide idea source.

Occupational Outlook Handbook

www.bls.gov/oco

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, an agency within the U.S. Department of Labor, produces this website, which offers more information than you'll ever need about specific careers.