EARLY CHILDHOOD LITERACY BREAKFAST

With Arthur J. Rolnick & Todd Otis

ARTHUR J. ROLNICK is a Senior Fellow and the co-director of Human Capital Research, Humphrey School of Public Policy at the University of Minnesota. Rolnick is a previous senior vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis. He was also a director of research and an associate economist with the Federal Open Market Committee - the monetary policymaking body for the Federal Reserve System. Through his national and international speaking engagements, Rolnick has become a star advocate for early childhood education.

TODD OTIS' lifelong advocacy in Minnesota, and his work as a change-agent in early childhood education, has had a significant and long-term positive impact on early childhood public policies, systems, and most importantly on the quality of early learning experiences for children and families. Otis is a former member of the Minnesota House of Representatives. He is the former senior vice president at Think Small, a nonprofit organization focused on advancing quality care and education of children in their crucial early years.

St. Cloud Area School District 742 and valued partners invite you to learn about early childhood literacy engagement and ways you can support these crucial efforts.
